

LauzHack Against COVID-19 Rules

Objective

1. LauzHack Against COVID-19 aims to anyone use their imagination to fight against the coronavirus pandemic.
2. Participants develop an idea in any form and are judged at the end with prizes for the top projects.

Eligibility

3. The event is open to anyone.

Registration

4. Participants must individually register on the event website.
5. All registrations will be accepted, except those that the organizers judge to be malicious.
6. Participants may form teams during the event.

Attendee conduct

7. Attendees must arrive on time, as specified in the schedule set by the organizers.
8. Attendees may not interfere in any way with the event organization, cause psychological or physical harm to other attendees, or attempt to obtain more than a fair share of resources such as third-party servers.
9. Attendees violating these rules may be expelled from the event, with or without warning.
10. Attendees are strongly encouraged to report any violation of these rules to the organizers.

Judging

11. Participants may submit and present a project at the end of the event, in teams of any size.
12. Participants may use existing resources, but their work must be novel compared to the resources they use, and they must make the novelty explicit during judging.
13. Participants will present their projects to judges selected by the organizers.
14. Prizes are awarded for top projects.

Intellectual Property

15. The organizers make no claims whatsoever on intellectual property created by participants.

Recordings

16. Attendees consent to the publication of the resulting recordings on any media considered appropriate by the organizers, such as university websites or newspapers.
17. Attendees may not be individually named in publications without their explicit consent.

Final provisions

18. The organizers may exempt attendees from specific rules, except those listed in "Attendee conduct", if the exemption is justified by the event objectives and applied fairly to all attendees.
19. All decisions from the organizers are final once announced. Attendees trying to dispute such decisions may be expelled from the event and blacklisted from future events.
20. These rules may be updated at any time.
21. Updates to these rules will be communicated to all attendees.
22. Attendees must agree to these rules, and any other rules communicated by the organizers.